About Us

We are a startup born with the vision of training the workforce of the future.

We help global companies implement and scale humanoid robots in their operations through Robots ID, an agnostic operating system that accelerates the learning and deployment of humanoid robots in enterprise operations.

We support companies in defining and implementing strategies to integrate humanoid robots into their production processes.

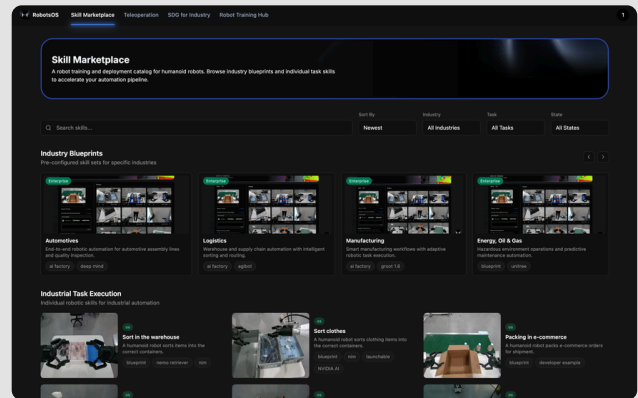

Our architecture prepares organizations for 2030, enabling a hybrid workforce where multiple robot brands operate in an integrated and efficient way, while guaranteeing the technological sovereignty of each industry's data.
