

ActionFintech

by innovAction

InFounded in 2016, Action Fintech emerged in response to the growing demand for innovative and efficient financial services brought about by the rise of fintech companies. The company was established with the objective of adapting in this market context, developing solutions that address emerging digitalization needs driven by technological evolutions and changes in the business environment.

Action Fintech is an active partner of Mifos, a global financial technology platform that collaborates in the development and implementation of software solutions to democratize financial services in underserved and developing communities. This partnership reinforces its ability to offer robust and accessible e-lending solutions.
